MUSTANG GT CONVERTIBLE

- Red Over Black Interior

Highlighted here is a 1994 Ford Mustang GT convertible that boasts a single owner. Sporting a bright red exterior that has been paired with a black interior and black top, this Mustang is the ideal picture of this classic pony car.

Although this generation of Mustang exhibited a more curvaceous physical appearance than those of the past, there are many styling cues that mirror the styling of a vintage Mustang.

The black leather interior has obviously been very well cared for over the years. Sport seats, a Mustang branded steering wheel, and easy to read gauges with orange needles are a few of the notable interior styling items. The “dual cockpit” layout includes many features that have become standard today; power windows, air conditioning, AM/FM radio with cassette and CD options, and cruise control.

Under the hood is a 5.0L V8 with automatic transmission. Noted as having 215 hp with a 0 to 60 mph acceleration time in the high-six second range, this GT was quite the performance vehicle for its time. Both the engine compartment and undercarriage are well-kept, and clean.

Named the Motor Trend Car of the Year, the 1994 Ford Mustang GT was a solid improvement over the previous Mustang models. As a celebration of the 30-year anniversary of the initial Ford Mustang model, the 1994 model year lived up to the Mustang name in more ways than one. Motor Trend continues to say that “the Ford Mustang GT is a member of the select roster of performance champions for the everyman” and we could not agree more. Please call if interested or e-mail with specific questions. Thank you for looking.
